The Massachusetts Association for Psychoanalytic Psychology, the local chapter of the Division of Psychoanalysis (39) of the American Psychological Association, provides an organizational home for professionals interested in studying and discussing the theory and practice of psychoanalytic psychotherapy and psychoanalysis. Over the past several years, MAPP has grown into a significant statewide organization, bringing together our professional community in an atmosphere of lively shared learning.

MAPP has sponsored numerous educational activities for its members and other interested professionals. We regularly offer courses, workshops, study groups and scientific meetings. Our continuing education program includes a variety of courses in psychoanalytic psychology, both theoretical and clinical, so that members can pursue continued study in the areas of their choice.
